Bundian Way Art Gallery – Art signposting the future

Saturday 1st December saw the culmination of a years work by diverse groups, The Delegate Progress Association, The Eden Local Aboriginal Land Council, Koori and local artists, The Royal Agricultural Society, The Bombala Council and the list goes on. The event was the opening of the Bundian Way Gallery

At the opening ceremony all speakers acknowledged the significance of the cooperation between the different groups and the signpost for the future that this represents.

The gallery was opened by Mark McKenna, author of recently published Looking for Blackfellas Point, who also emphasised the historical precedence of this new Gallery, as the regions first dedicated Aboriginal Art gallery, and a recognition of the Aboriginal's role in managing and representing the landscape we view today.

The ceremony was opened by Bill Guthrie, followed by BJ Cruse who provided Welcome to Country. Other speakers included John Blay the SEF coordinator, who outlined the progress of the Bundian Way project, thanked the DPA for their tireless efforts in making the gallery a reality and introduced the three artists exhibiting in the gallery; Lee Cruse, Cheryl Davison and Don Atkinson. Jocellin Jansson from the RAS praised the efforts of Emma Sellers and Karen Cash in obtaining the grant to refurbish the old bank. She was then presented with a posy by Jazzy Thompson.

As well as the Bundian Way Gallery opening, the Borderline Gallery's latest exhibition was opened by Mayor Bob Stewart.

After the doors to the Old bank were opened, the many visitors and locals were able to stroll through admiring the stunning collection of Aboriginal art from the South Coast Region, from Lee Cruse's delicate traditional art, to Cheryl's beautiful visual storytelling to Don's intricate baskets. The visitors were also able to meander through the lovely old building to view the Borderline Gallery collection of local art. To add to this feast of the senses were delicious nibbles and wine.

Before the afternoon was finished there were red dots next to many paintings and broad smiles on both aboriginal and local faces.

The Bundian Way is definitely a shared pathway and this first step along it provides a harmonious songline for the future.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS TO ALL OUR CUSTOMERS FROM THE ‘DELEGATE DOINGS’

THANKYOU

Patricia, Margaret, and Leslie would like to thank everyone for their kindness following the death of their brother Alester (Toby) Black.

Your messages of sympathy, cards, flowers etc were much appreciated, Please accept this as our personal thanks.

LEGGE GWEN BERYL

16th March 1928 to 12th December 2007

There is a place in our hearts that is yours alone, a part of our lives, no one else can own.

The tears in our eyes, we can wipe away, but the love in our hearts will always stay.

We love and miss you mum.

Sue, Ken and family

BUSH POETRY

Just a reminder to all those budding poets that the Bush Poetry Competition is on again this year, with winners announced at the Show.

Over the Christmas break, if you have some time on your hands you might be inspired to put pen to paper or fingers to keyboard.

Because of lack of entries in the junior section there will only be an open section this year, and all entries will be judged together.

There are good cash prizes, so it's well worth the effort.

XMAS LIGHTS COMPETITION

Bombala Council would like to remind people to enter in the Xmas lights competition which will be judged on 17th. December.

First Prize is $200.00, Second prize $150.00

Entries forms available at Cafe, Post Office, Store and RTC

How to Win the Ripe Tomato Battle

Many gardeners have given up on the challenge of getting tomatoes to ripen in our district. The principal constraint is believed to be a frost as late as November or December. Frost is highly likely again around the full moon at the equinox in March frustratingly followed by several weeks of the best ripening weather of the year – a sort of Indian Summer. The choice of variety is key to success.

Choose the appropriate variety for our conditions. I feel that the basic problem here is that the variety often chosen are those traditionally grown in the warmer coastal areas – large bodied leafy plants bearing very large individual tomatoes. Such varieties need a long time to form their frame before flowering even commences and each fruit needs many days to reach full size and many more to ripen. The leafiness that protects fruit from sunburn in hot places shields fruit too much for our more benign growing conditions.

Choose the appropriate variety for your needs. Do you want a few small tomatoes frequently to dress a salad? or meaty types to turn into preserves and sauces? or a larger tomato for slicing?

Choose the appropriate variety for your conditions. Are you growing in pots, poly tunnel or garden? There is an upside and downside for each of these methods.

In pots the soil needs to be airy and this is always coupled with free-drainage so keeping the water up will be critical to root health and will sometimes require multiple attentions daily. The roots can also die from overheating, especially if the pot is black plastic sitting out on paving on its own. In a poly tunnel light intensity is reduced (maturity of individual fruit delayed), humidity is higher (disease risk), and on clear days temperatures soar causing photosynthesis to temporarily shut down constraining growth potential. In the garden bed frost is the main danger but by-and-large it is the most successful method provided the watering is carefully done. Always water the soil not the leaves (disease and nutrient leaching) and try to not let the soil dry out as splitting may occur with the rewetting event.

Overriding all this are the general rules for all plant growth – soil temperature has the greatest influence on growth followed by night air temperature. This means that mulching is not always helpful especially early in the season when soil still needs to absorb heat from the direct sunlight falling on it. There is a compromise to be found between heat gain and water loss. Light is rarely limiting in Australia however high day temperatures in the absence of adequate soil moisture will cause the plant to shut down which in extreme form is seen as wilting.

Spread the risk. Grow a few different varieties established at different times so that the chances of having a crop increases. Finally a few well cared for plants are far more productive than too many overcrowded plants.

Here are some varieties that are reliable in Delegate. KY1 is a sturdy low bush with full size fruit a little crinkled on the top. It was bred in Victoria especially to address our climate. Roma is a low bush with meaty fruit that can be sauced, dried or eaten fresh. It is cold resistant and does not readily split with the vagaries of weather. Tommy Toe is tall producing marble sized fruit over long period and the skin is not as tough as in cherry types. Ibridio has large smooth globular fruit in trusses suited to both open garden and glasshouse.

There is so much more to say about tomato culture but if what you are already doing works don't change a thing – just share your knowledge with your neighbour and always remember that the best thing you can do for health and well being is to garden, especially to grow your own food.

WRITERS WORKSHOP

Members of the local writers group were joined by visitors from Canberra for a one day workshop with Kathy Kituai, a poet and writing teacher from the ACT. Kathy had organised a busy schedule for the day, putting the group through their paces with a series of writing exercises. Kathy also gave some good advice on how to conduct our future workshops to gain the most benefit. It was an enjoyable and informative day, with the group having got together socially the evening before for a pleasant evening and delicious dinner at the home of John and Penny Judge.

DELEGATE ANNUAL GOLF TOURNAMENT

The local tournament these days does not attract the big fields of days gone by, nevertheless with a good roll up for ladies day and also on Sunday for the men's competition it could be judged a success. The course was picture perfect, and the ladies did their usual job of providing wonderful food for the participants.

Pictured below two of the groups of ladies who took part

Jenny Lasker, Trina Manning and Coleen Atherton. Locals Trina and Denise picked up some trophies on the day, including the teams event where they teamed with another local Pat Campbell.

Snowy River Muster

The Delegate Hospital Auxiliary ran their 7th Snowy River Muster on Saturday 10th November. They had people attend from Cann River, Merimbula, Bega & Cooma. The artists who performed were really outstanding and once again we thank them.

A big thankyou to Doreen and Alma who came to help in the kitchen.

Despite being well attended there was a disappointing involvement by locals. If anyone has any ideas of what we should do next year to revitalise local involvement, please let the Auxiliary know.

The raffle was drawn and Heather Scroope won the BBQ, Heather Jones won the Ham and Ken Jardine from Merimbula won the Scotch.

WAR VETERANS ARTIST TO VISIT DELEGATE

Wayne Dowsent is a very diverse Artist who works with oil, digital, photography, animation and clay mediums. Wayne is passionate about many things, but most important to him is the history of Australia, especially the stories of the Australian Aborigine, our War Veterans and of course the golden age of motoring. At the moment, he is specialising in painting portraits of War Veterans. Wayne not only paints their portraits, but he also interviews these wonderful men.

The great news is, Wayne and his wife Jacqui are planning to visit Delegate in January (dates unknown at this stage). They are very interested in visiting our War Museum, Borderline Art Gallery, and Hilda Rix Nicholas's gallery at Tombong, as well as the Delegate Early Settlers Hut. Wayne also intends to interview, and possibly paint, our last remaining World War II veteran, Keith Bent, and Curly Taylor who will be here for his annual visit. If possible, he intends to bring some of his paintings, which will be available for viewing at the Delegate School of Arts.

Wayne has his own website waynedowsent.com.au for anyone who is interested in finding out more about this very talented man. He also has a site on Facebook called Anzacs Lest We Forget. On this site you will be able to view his paintings and interviews with War Veterans, and also see photos of memorials from different towns in Australia, including Delegate.

GOLDEN AGE PARTY

Guests at the Golden Age Part held at the Country Club on the 2nd December enjoyed a very pleasant day out, with Marilyn and her helpers providing the usual excellent lunch, and Beverly Stokes and sister Heather providing the musical entertainment. The 40 people present, all enjoyed a social day catching up with friends, along with great food and entertainment. The organisers would like to thank all who donated money and food for the luncheon, with a particular thanks to Bev for once again travelling from Canberra to provide the music. The lovely cake made and decorated by Maria Callaway, was cut by Jean Manning and Keith Bent.

COUNCIL NEWS FROM COUNCILLOR BATEMAN

Short note on my activities in the past month or so. A bit late but I'll catch up eventually.

On 17 September I attended a HACC meeting in Bombala on issues confronting our local youth and possible remedies. A very interesting insight to our local problems and I'll be following up on this issue. The Mayor, General Manager and I attended a workshop in Cooma on 11 October about Councils and good governance. I met quite a few of the surrounding Region's mayors and Councillors. It was a worthwhile day catching up on changes to how Councils operate today. On 29 October I attended a wild dog day at the Corrawong Fire Shed. An interesting morning meeting our local representative Tony Barilaro and local land owners I hadn't personally met previously. The cross border issues are a real problem and I will follow with interest the efforts to resolve them. On the 11th of November, Remembrance Day, I was honoured to be invited to deliver the address at a service organised by the Delegate RSL Sub-Branch. The ceremony was well attended and I'd like to compliment the Sub-Branch on a good effort. I was invited to a meeting of the Bombala Historical Society on 12 November and delivered a talk on my responsibilities as the SES Liaison Officer at the Thredbo Land Slip Disaster.

I've attended 2 Council meetings since being elected and it has been an interesting time coming to terms with the changes in the way Councils operate since I was last on the old Tallaganda Shire Council. I think that I will be able to help along some of the needs of our local community being met.

I note that the staff are doing a good job on the Delegate – Bombala road. Pot holing still needs a bit of work in places but I'm sure we'll get there. I was most pleased that my suggestion at the Council meeting of 22 November that 3 big pot holes at the Delegate Sewage Farm were getting bad were fixed less than 12 hours later. I have sent an Email to the GM thanking staff for their prompt response. Also stage one of the main street footpath improvements have been completed. It will make quite a difference to the main street. Unfortunately I was not able to be at the Bundian way opening due to committing to attend a regional RSL meeting in Bega. Issues raised with me by local concerned people including drainage around the Kindergarten and other matters are being followed up. I hope to organise a meeting of all the Delegate Section 355 Committees early in the New Year to meet all the Committee members and see what future plans are in the pipe-line

Barbara and I wish everyone in the Southern region a very merry, safe, and enjoyable festive season. We do hope that Santa brings you all a little joy at Christmas.

Councillor Bill Bateman

GOOD SAMARITAN HELPS FORMER DELEGATE RESIDENT

Dorothy Hepburn has kindly loaned us a copy of a piece from a Brisbane paper as follows:

"It was a lucky day for Regents Park man Edmund "Ted" Crawford when he pulled into his local petrol station recently. Mr. Crawford, an amputee did not know he was about to receive an act of kindness from a local mystery man. "I pulled into the bowser and put my wheelchair down from the top of the car he said" When Mr Crawford went inside "a lady came out from behind the checkout and said to put your money in your pocket". She then told him a man who had just driven away had paid for his petrol. The mystery man told the service station attendant he did not want to be thanked and just asked to give Mr. Crawford the receipt for $39.84. Mr. Crawford said he wanted to thank him and the people of Logan for all the kind acts they had shown

DELEGATE SCHOOL NEWS

On the 22nd of November 2012 the families of Delegate Public School held their end of year P & C BBQ. The night commenced with a short meeting for the end of year. Then on with the fun side of the evening, the dads cooked up a storm on the BBQ while the mum's made salads etc in the SAKG kitchen. The student leadership team organized and ran games to play like, T ball, Cocky Laura, then a game of Aus tag which some mum and dads joined in. A fun night was had by all.

Group shot of some parents having a chat

Jack Walls, Jaidyn Clear, Fletcher Manning & Bryson Phillips-Jones playing T—Ball.

On Tuesday 4th December 2012 the students of Delegate Public School held their assembly with a presentation of speeches from the Year 5 students in relationship to the leadership roles that they will be taking on next year as the senior students of Delegate Public School. They spoke about what they would like to do and achieve while they are in this role.

Some quotes from the speeches: Ryley Lewis—Environment Minister—I would help Mrs Tocchini with composting, worm farming and working with the chickens. I would put in double the effort in the garden.

Dylan Robinson—Energy Minister—I will turn off/on computers fans and lights. I would make sure the heaters were on low to save energy and the environment.

Claudia Tonks—Leisure Minister—I will make surveys with games such as hop scotch, skipping etc. The game that gets the most votes we will play for fun at lunch, and try not to be too competitive.

The students from Years 2,3,4,5 and 6 have been taking part in the Department of Education and Communities School Swimming Scheme. It is an intensive learn to swim program, which develops water confidence and provides students with the basic skills in water and survival. The school would like to thank the Delegate Progress Association Swimming Pool Sub Committee for their very kind donation of the bus travel to and from the pool for all the students.

OBITUARY TOBY BLACK

Toby was born in Delegate on 29-7-1932. Eldest child of Alister Leslie (Dick) and Marguerita Mary (Rita) Black (nee Jones). Toby was educated at St. Josephs Catholic School Delegate. His main source of employment was with the PMG later to be known as Aust Post. His work started as delivery boy and with hard work rose to be Post Master. He worked in twenty seven post offices in southern NSW, and stayed in this type of work for forty one years, his last office being Bombala. Upon reaching retirement, he decided to buy The Delegate General Store, as he loved being of service to the public.

Declining health saw him have to sell.

Toby loved Rugby League, playing with different teams in towns that he worked in. He helped organise a few reunions over the years.

Toby spent the last seven months of his life in Bombala Hospital. He passed away on 16-9-2012. He is survived by three sisters Margaret Ralphs, Lesley Collins and Patricia Guthrie, eight nephews and nieces and fourteen great nephews and nieces.

HERE & THERE

The death occurred recently at Currawarna, Bombala of a lady who was born and spent her early days at Corrowong before moving to Sydney. Sheila Tiernan (nee O'Hare) was buried in the Corrowong Cemetery on Friday 16th November following a service in the Corrowong Catholic Church. She is survived by one daughter Mary Ann, and two sons Michael and Mark. Sympathy is extended to all.

The death occurred following a lengthy illness, of Peter Ingram on the 29th November. Having spent his youth at Tombong where he was born, Peter moved away to take up a career working for National Parks, before retiring and returning to Tombong.

He is survived by wife Marian, and four sons, Mark, Chris, Andrew and Peter, two brothers, Barry and Ian and one sister Barbara. Sympathy is extended to all. Cremation followed a service at their home at Tombong.

A funeral service was held in Goulburn on 29th November, for former local lady Gwen McPherson (nee Watling) who was born in Delegate and spent her early days here. Gwen is survived by two sons, her husband having predeceased her.

November has seen snakes on the move, with a number of reported sightings in backyards, around the town, and close to dwellings.

Happy birthday to all who were born in December, including Raymond Jamieson, Megan Downey, Nerida Reed, Dennis Reed, Alma Reed and Callum Clear. Also Doug Callaway who is returning from Perth to celebrate his 60th on 8th. December.

It has been a busy few weeks at the Rural Transaction Centre, what with preparing the old bank premises for the new Bundian Way Gallery, and setting up a new exhibition in the Borderline-Gallery section. The efforts of Carol Badewitz, Nola White and Sue Haslingden were much appreciated in helping set up what is the biggest local exhibition featured yet.

The new local Health Committees have been formed to contribute to the community perspective on the delivery of local health care.

The Bombala and Delegate Community Consultation Hubs (CCH) met in Bombala for an orientation meeting on Tuesday October 30th. Delegate Members are Jan Ingram, Rhonda Linehan, Charlie Burton, Gail Smallman John Judge, Gloria Cotterill, Natalie Armstrong.

Congratulations to Amy Sellers and partner George on the birth of a second son Stanley Henry Holden on 1st. November. Stanley is a brother for little George aged 2 years.

The Mexican dinner at the Country Club with Chef Phil Mann, was a successful night with a good number of diners enjoying the cuisine. Another night to look forward to is the Christmas dinner on the 16th December with Trina and Sue providing catering. Reservations are necessary.

A busy time coming up at the local Hotel, with bands from now till New Year's Eve. Doug Callaway's 60th birthday bash at the hotel on the 8th will also be a reunion for family and school friends and mates from Doug's early days in delegate.

At long last some of the footpath on the Southern side of the main street has been completed. There is some more to do between the creek and Landmark.. The next step is to make sure householders do not grow shrubs which obstruct the path, as has happened in the past.

Congratulations to two local lads on the announcement of their engagements.

Mark Reed son of Alma and Barry to Cathy Jones.

Allen Buckman son of Russell and Sharon to Audrey Wright.

The old cafe, dress store and gift shop which burned down in January 1970.

Below: The Commercial Banking of Sydney building taken in 1957. It is now owned by the Delegate Progress Association, and although the exterior has changed very little the interior is completely different. It now houses the Borderline Gallery and the new Bundian Way Gallery, as well as providing office services, and Centrelink. It has also been subdivided to make a one bedroom flat at the rear of the building.
