DELEGATE SHOW—2019

Another successful Delegate Show, with attendance being slightly up on last year. The Pavilion was a sea of colour with floral art, handcrafts, art, photography, vegetable fruits and a wonderful display of handcraft exhibits from pupils at the local school. In the wool section, long time exhibitor Peter Guthrie won champion fleece, which will compete at the Sydney Royal next year in a special class for fleeces from country shows.

The sheep dog trials attracted a number of entrants and it was good to see John Prry one of the show's long standing competitors, trialling the NSW 2018 Sheep Dog of the Year here. Bronnie Taylor who opened the show had the difficult task of judging the baby, tiny tots and junior Miss Showgirl competition as well the best decorated bike. The ship colouring competition attracted a lot of enthusiastic entrants which resulted in some very colourful sheep on show. The day being hot the dunking machine operated by Matthew Farran in aid of the Scouts was very popular and our local policeman at the end of the day, generously agreed to be dunked no less than three times to raise money for entertainment at next year's show. Bradley Matthews was there with his bullock team which always raises a lot of interest. The Snowy Monaro Regional Council were well represented with Mayor John Rooney, General Manager Peter Bascombe and other staff members as well as local council representatives Bob Stewart and Ann Maslin. There was also an information stand.

In the evening there was a barbecue tea and music by MixFix, followed by a great display of fireworks, which was enjoyed by all.

Michelle Farran

Michelle lived a very full life, though one tragically cut short.

She was born in Sydney and lived in Canley Vale and the Taree area before going to University at Bathurst and Canberra. Her first job was as a Forest Officer in Bendoc in 1989 and she has been leaving her mark in the area ever since. In that time she has had two husbands, eight children and pursued a wide variety of interests.

Michelle had a razor-sharp intelligence – higher than 99.75% of the population. She was capable of immense empathy and sought out and supported the underdog, the misfit and the different. If she could see a problem that interested her she would get right to the heart of it and needed to fix it right now and nothing would distract her from it. She could talk the hind leg off a donkey that was underwater and encased in concrete.

She loved being in the bush – it refreshed her soul and inspired her creative mind. Traditional crafts were a challenge to her love of learning and she was never happier than when tanning a hide or plaiting rope. She was an active scout who in the week before she became ill, kayaked down the Murray for five days. Her musical talents were often on show and culminated in her album 'Rockton' from which songs for her celebration have been taken. If there was a stage and singing going on, Michelle wanted to be there... all night.

Michelle was a fantastic educator. She had an affinity for what the purpose of a lesson was and would draw elaborate pictures to inspire her class to understanding a concept. She devoured knowledge about how the brain works and how children develop and used this to work out programs for students with special needs.

Despite being pregnant or breast-feeding for nearly twenty years she was not one to play with her children – preferring to teach them how to cook or sew or gut a fish. She didn't really have an ego so she was excellent at embarrassing her kids, such as being the only adult in her daughters' dance class aged 45.

Michelle loved this area and gave out to her community in so many ways – as deputy controller of the Bendoc SES, as a Regional Commissioner for Scouts, on numerous boards and committees, with the Rotary Community Choir and 23 years as a parent at Monaro Dance Centre.

On the 3rd February 2018 Michelle had a seizure and was diagnosed with Stage 4 Brain Cancer. Over the past year she had to cope with slowly losing her abilities. She kept her spirits; when she found she could no longer read she simply listened to audiobooks. The hardest thing was not being to 'talk in English' anymore. She fought hard despite the increasing discomfort and passed away on Sunday 17th February shortly after midnight surrounded by family.

She will be sadly missed by all those whose hearts she touched.

March Astrology

New Moon – Thursday March 7th

New moon in Pisces (as with the sun sign). A time of high awareness and cosmic energy. Plant seeds of awareness of understanding, wisdom and learning to trust the flow. On this day unpredictable Uranus also shifts into Taurus (the sign for money) until 2026, this could bring big shifts for some and a sense of unpredictability, especially with banks.

Full Moon – Thursday March 21st

Full Moon in Libra asks us to seek balance (see Tarot for this month). The Sun also moves into Aries this day, and it is the Equinox. Equinox of course being about the balance of night and day, light and dark. The theme for March is definitely about BALANCE.

DELEGATE PONY CLUB RALLY

A successful Pony Club rally was held on Sunday 10th February, with riders and instructors being kept busy with a lot of different activities. The 8 riders started their day, with a nice warm up with their mounts, and then went on to some general ground work. This included learning new techniques to control their mounts. The riders then went on to some mounted game practises with riders learning to rein their mounts for command. The afternoon was a session of jumping, positioning ready for preparation for the up and coming local shows. The riders finished their day with some work in cross country jumping and techniques and were put through a small course. The next rally is March 3rd commencing at 9.30 for gear check with a 10am start.

SOME HINTS FOR SAVING ELECTRICITY.

Alan Hale has kindly put together some timely cost savings for electricity users as follows.

I just received my power bill and was shocked, pretty normal reaction, you might say! However it was because it was so low, $194.80 less my concession 70.01, less my discount for payment on time $23.38 a total of $92.41, All our power bills end up around between $100 and $120.00. What I wanted to share with you was how we are able to get to this figure in a climate of power rip offs and bills which shock the pants off us. After talking with some of my friends, an average bill seems to be anywhere between $400 and $800. One person (a farmer) told me their bill regularly was around $1000. We don't live like monks, but have learned, over the years that even a small saving regularly applied adds up.

Here's what we do. Boiling the jug can cost up to 25c per boil, so we only boil 2 cups of water at a time and just before the jug goes to boiling (bubbling) we turn it off. The element is still red hot and will continue to heat to boil in the next 10-20 seconds. Ridiculous detail you say? Well I drink 5 cups of coffee a day, plus we boil the jug to wash up twice a day, which is 7 boils per day which adds up to 210 boils per month, 840 boils for billing period @25c per boil is $210.00. Any excess water boiled water is put into a thermos on the bench next to the jug and used for the next cup of coffee or tea. All the washing up is done in a small container in the sink, so we never need more than a jug's worth to wash up. We have a gas stove, but this is equally applied to an electric one. We never use the oven unless we have two or three items to bake. We do not use recipes that require cooking for more than half an hour. You would be amazed at how many there are that do not require long oven times. I also make no bake cheese cakes and slices. Our hot water system is only connected to the shower and we shower twice per week, never longer than 5 minutes. We only ever have one night light on at a time and turn off lights if we go to another room. We do not leave anything on stand by, everything is turned off at the switch, including phone chargers. We traded in our old refrigerator for a brand new 4 star rated 2 door one, much larger, but the temperature setting can be changed on the door, so at winter we can turn it down. We freeze water bottles and use in the fridge to help cool it down. We do not have a separate freezer, use a solar light for night toilet. I hope this information will be of help to somebody. Our supplier is an Australian Company, which we cannot name and local and we have no reason to ever question our bill.

DELEGATE COUNTRY CLUB VALENTINE'S DINNER

The Delegate Country Club had a special belated Valentine's Day dinner on Friday night. The three course meal, with each course paired with wine, was delicious, with everyone complimenting the chef for the night, Nick Flower. Nick put in an incredible amount of planning and effort into the menu, delivering an exceptional meal which all the guests thoroughly enjoyed.

Another Feather In Her Hat

Delegate own Cynthia Jones– Bryson has once again enhanced her millinery reputation on the world stage.

The 2019 Melbourne International Millinery Competition (MIMC) is the highlight of a weeklong event where milliners from around the world come together to teach and learn new skills. The MIMC attracted 90 entries from over 30 countries which saw Cynthia's design placing in the top 8.

As if that didn't thrill her enough, Cynthia was informed the next day that her design had been selected to showcase on the runway in Paris in April. Cynthia has also received an invitation to take part in a millinery exhibition in Moscow in August.

No doubt Cynthia is in for a busy year.

HERE & THERE

Many Happy Returns to all those born in March, including Max Clear, Brody Lewis, Luke Mikula, Adam Mikula, Denise Nichol, Tracy Walker, Neil Armstrong, Cathy Reed., John Jones (Jonesy), Louise Tonnissen

Also special birthday wishes to Cathy Jeffreys who celebrated a milestone birthday with family and friends at Merimbula.

The death occurred in Sydney on the 12th February of Ellen Mary Ashton (nee Jones). Nell as she was known was the eldest of Bert and Dorothy Jones eight children, Vince, Jean, Beatrice, Josephine, Rose, Maureen and John (Flatout). Nell is survived by one sister Rose and brother Flatout. Sympathy is extended to all.

The smartest, the wisest, the toughest of the Jones Family. RIP Nell.

The death occurred in Canberra Hospital recently of Michelle Farran. A service celebrating her life was held in the Bendoc Hall on Saturday 23rd. February, followed by interment in the Bendoc Cemetery. Michelle is survived by husband Matthew and eight children, Ellery, Bowen, Erin, Billy, and Morris Farran and Max, Felix and Veronica Hartmeier. Her parents, Rita and Brian Barnes and two brothers also survive her. Sympathy is extended to all.

According to the powers that be, the next stage of the work on the Delegate main Street will begin shortly. First cab off the rank will be the disability access to the General Store, and following that tree planting, parking near Memorial Park and drainage problems.

It will be a day of nostalgia for Delegate's Rugby League former players and fans, when the present Bombala Heelers team takes the field wearing Delegate Tigers' Heritage jumpers. There was a time when Bombala and Delegate teams were fierce rivals and every match drew a large parochial crowd. With the changing times, there is no longer a Delegate Tigers team and the Bombala team, after a few year's hiatus, has re-emerged strongly, winning the Grand Final last year.

Debbie Endrulis would like to express her gratitude to all the nursing staff at Delegate hospital for the high standard of professional care shown to Glenn Matthews on Monday the 18th of February. You were all amazing. Glen is home recovering and healing well.

Despite an influx of Flying Fox this year, there was a good exhibition of fruit at the local Show. These hungry fruit eaters do not visit often but when they do a tree full of fruit can disappear overnight.

The International Women's Day at the Delegate School of Arts has been postponed. At this stage we are not sure of the reason why, but when we have further information we will let you know.

Plenty of entertainment coming up in March and with an Irish week-end at the Pub, on 16th and 17th March and a Music Night at the County Club on Saturday 30th March.

John Jeffreys recently returned to Moree for a re-union with his old Rugby Union Football Club. He was voted best halfback in a decade, an achievement to be proud of and we congratulate him on his award.

LOOKING BACK

The above photo of a team of horses carrying a large load of wool bales was taken in front of Goodman's store, which is now John Stewart's Garage.

The death of Nell Jones who was born in Delegate almost 100 years ago, reminds us of the large families who lived in Delegate in that era. Enough children in the town to keep two schools, a Convent and Public, both with large attendances. Below: A phot of the Jones family of eight, Back: Vince and Nell, Front Rose, Jean, Josie, Beattie and Maureen. Baby John (Flatout) is seated in the front.

DELEGATE SHOW REPORT.

The organisers of the 111th annual show were very pleased with the day. Although quite hot and dry the attendance was slightly up on last year and all who attended had a happy and enjoyable day. The pavilion provided a wonderful display of the talents of the district in the art, handicrafts, floral art, cooking, condiments and photography sections and also showcased the wonderful produce in the vegetables, fruit, flowers and wool sections. It was pleasing to see so much in the pavilion given the difficult season we have just come through – it was a testament to the resilience of exhibitors. It never ceases to amaze me how great the pavilion looks year after year. Once again we had wonderful support from the students of Delegate Public School whose handicraft exhibits needed additional tables to showcase them all. It was also great to see a number of new exhibitors which bodes well for future shows.

There was strong competition in the Wool Section this year with long time exhibitor, Peter Guthrie scooping the pool with the exception of the TWG three fleece competition which was won by JW and RM Guthrie. Peter's Champion Fleece of the Show will compete at the Sydney Royal next year in a special class for fleeces from country shows.

The Sheep Dog Trials also attracted a number of new entrants. It was terrific to see John Perry, one of our long standing competitors, trialling the NSW 2018 Sheep Dog of the year here.

Once again the decorated bike competition, baby, tiny tots and junior Miss Showgirl competitions were well contested and the show opener, the Hon Bronnie Taylor was kept busy judging these. Bronnie was extremely enthusiastic about the show and is a wonderful supporter of the show movement. The sheep colouring competition was back in full swing, with some sheep needing to be coloured twice, such was the interest. I always wonder how these sheep are received by the rest of the mob when they return. As the day was quite hot, the dunking machine operated by Matthew Farran in aid of the Scouts did a wonderful trade as did the jumping castle. The return of Bradley Matthews' bullock team was another highlight and it is fantastic to see this traditional skill being kept alive in the district.

Mr Lindsay Boyton who has recently been appointed as one of our Zone Representatives, replacing the long serving Ray Sawtell who sadly passed away last year was another visitor to the show. Lindsay stayed for the whole day and also the evening entertainment and was impressed with what he saw.

Council was also well represented with an information stand, Mayor Rooney, Councillors Ann Maslin and Bob Stewart, the General Manager – Peter Bascombe and other staff members in attendance.

The close of the day saw many enjoy a BBQ tea and the music provided by MixFix. An added attraction was the "dunking" of the local policeman. Tye very generously agreed to being dunked, not once, but three times with the funds raised being put towards entertainment for next year's show. The night culminated in a very impressive display of fireworks which both young and the young at heart all thoroughly enjoyed.

On behalf of the rest of the Committee, I would like to say a huge thank you to all who contributed towards this year's show. Once again it was a splendid community effort and one that all who were a part of should be proud. I look forward to next year!!

President

DELEGATE DUCK RACE

BACK BIGGER THAN EVER

So after a year's hiatus, the Duck Race is back again in 2019 on Good Friday, April 19th. We look forward to a fun and family packed day, hoping of course that you will all be able to help support the fundraising activities of the local Delegate Public School.

Yes the Race will be held at Bill Jeffrey Park, between 12 noon and 4 pm. Duck Race times to be announced depending on how many races we get. So stay tuned for that.

We have some extra activities planned for this years' event, which we would love for you to start thinking about soon. Yes the Kids Boat Race is on again, so please start getting the kids into thinking about their boats for this year.

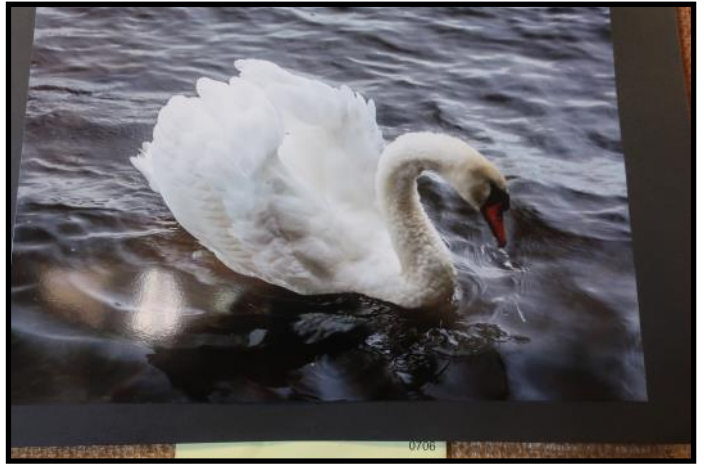

We hope to have 2 Duck Races on the day. So get your ducks early. $10 per duck. Ducks can be bought from the Café, the General Store or from Su King.

To add to the day we will have some other fun activities, including Thong Toss, Gumboot Toss, Bottle Toss and Funky Furniture Competition. The Toss games are self evident. More competitions to be announced.

But the Funky Furniture will be a little different. This has come about from the inspiration of the beautifully decorated chair in the Old Post Office Gift Shop. Between now and that day we are hoping you would like to get your creative juices flowing and create your own piece of Funky Furniture. We will have a display of all the Funky pieces down at the Park and there will be prizes. If you would like some help with your creative side, feel free to pop into the Old Post Office for the Creative Hub sessions held Thursday's between 11.30 and 2.30, you can join in on the activities of the day, or bring your own creative venture, or bring along your furniture to start creative your own Funky piece.

If you would like to hold a stall at the Duck Race, please call Su King 6458 8315 to book your spot, the more the merrier. If you would like to donate any prizes for the Races please also contact Su.

More information will be forthcoming about the actual days events in the next Delegate Doings, please save the date, book your camp site if necessary, and we look forward to seeing you all at the 2019 Delegate Duck Race, bigger and better.
