ANAZAC DAY IN DELEGATE

On the 25th April, Service Members, descendants and school children assembled at the Delegate Monument at 10.45 on a perfect autumn morning to commemorate the landing at Gallipoli over one hundred years ago and the sacrifice of our servicemen and women in all wars.

The march to the Memorial Gates at the park and the ceremony which followed, was appreciated by the good crowd in attendance. The dawn service was also well attended as was the gunfire breakfast which followed at the RSL Hall. A lunch was provided at the Country Club, and the traditional game of two-up was on offer for those who attended the Hotel as well as the Club.

Below the marchers set off from the Cenotaph.

THE DELEGATE HOSPITAL CUP

The above cup was an important fixture in the District's Racing calendar and local trainers vied for the honour of winning the trophy at the Delegate Races. Race meetings were a big part of the social life of the district, with Cabanandra and Bendoc joining with Delegate to host the events. Great interest was shown in each race, with mostly locally bred and trained horses competing, although there were a few retired race horses in the mix. Large crowds always attended, with Delegate boasting a Grandstand, Judges Box and a Bookies ring.

The Delegate Hospital Cup trophy which was written about in the last Delegate Doings, is being currently held by a man in Darwin. During his research on the history of horse racing, he saw the cup advertised on line and subsequently purchased it. Doreen Standen tells us that there is also a similar cup in the local history room, and unfortunately like the one in Darwin there is no winners name engraved on it.

Philip Reed has kindly sent us an old photo of the finish of the Cup when it was won by the Pat Ivill who trained Brave Beau, ridden by Ross Taylor. No doubt there were other local winners for this annual race, whose names have been lost in the mists of time. We would be interested of any families who have history or photos of local horse racing. There was no royalty treatment for most of these horses, who were probably ridden and used on the farms. I can remember my brother and a friend riding from Delegate River across Cottonwood Range to enter two horses in the Bendoc Races.

DELEGATE RUGBY LEAGUE HISTORY

With the Bombala Rugby League team due to play their annual game at the Delegate Show and Sports ground on May 13th. Philip Reed has undertaken the task of gathering some history of the game of League in Delegate. He has sent us a copy of a letter, from a John Helmich who is the son of a man who coached the Delegate team in 1933. This was probably the first time Rugby League had been played in Delegate, as previous to 1932 Union was the sport of choice.

The letter does not reproduce well for printing but below are some excerpts.

“While I can't recall a lot of what he experienced during his time in Delegate as I was only young at the time, but I can remember a now long lost photo of him standing on the field holding a block of ice. This certainly gave me an idea of the tough conditions that the players must have endured at that time.

In recent years I have tracked down a few stories of the Delegate team in 1933 from historical readings in both the Delegate Argus and the Bombala Times. That year Delegate lost out in the semi finals to Bombala in a hard fought game with the score 7-5. One particular item from later on that year, 15-10-33, was a letter from my father showing his appreciation for the time he was captain coach. The article highlights special tanks to Mr. and Mrs. Cheriton.”

R: Some of the old style uniforms worn by players.

ANZAC DAY (Contd.)

Australia commemorates it's veterans well, on Anzac Day in Cities and small towns throughout the Nation where ceremonies draw large crowds. Every small town has it's monument to the fallen, and Delegate with it's red granite monument, memorial gates and history room at the School of Arts can be proud of it's contribution. The town also boasts the smallest RSL Hall in the State, which may be small but is kept in pristine condition by members.

Below are pictured the marchers standing in front of the Memorial Gates, including the pupils from the Primary school. Right: It was pleasing to see four high school students take part in the march, they were Callum Jamieson, Jessi Kidd, Bella Tonissen and Lydia Jamieson. Below on right Max Clear raises the flag.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATIONS

Two local nonagenarians recently celebrated birthdays. Former local Henry Sellers is pictured below with wife Jayne and sister Shirley Hite at his 90th birthday lunch in Sydney at The local Shed Rouse Hill. Henry and Jayne recently moved to an Aged Care facility in Sydney, near to their daughter Caroline who is pictured on the left

Natalie celebrated her 95th at a birthday luncheon at the historic Gunderoo hotel, which has been converted to a popular fine dining venue. She is pictured with her lovely cake, which depicts her interests, of Art and gardening. Her exercise group also entertained her at a luncheon at the home of Sandra Walker.

A Little Piece of Delegate at the Royal Coronation

As we all know the Coronation of King Charles III will take place at Westminster Abbey on 6 May with the world watching on.

We are very excited to learn that our own, Cynthia Jones-Bryson of Delegate has designed and made the hat for her Excellency Linda Hurley (wife of the Governor General of Australia), who will accompany her husband His Excellency, David Hurley to the Coronation. Cynthia is no stranger to her headwear creations being worn at Royal events as can be seen in the pics below.

1. Dame Quentin Bryce wears a Cynthia creation at the Royal Australian Navy Review 2013 accompanied by Prince Harry.
2. Dame Quentin Bryce wears a Cynthia creation alongside Queen Elizabeth on her last visit to Australia in 2011.

DELEGATE SCHOOL NEWS

Amazing Delegate Public School P&C

Over the course of the holidays, our simply amazing P&C have raised an enormous amount of money that will be supporting the Year 5 and 6 Fundraising efforts for this year's Magical Mystery Tour. The Annual Delegate Duck Race and Festivities kicked things off on Good Friday at Bill Jeffreys Park. The day was filled with fabulous food, Duck Races, Wood Raffle, Mega Raffle, Novelty Show Items and Kids Novelty Events. On the day the P&C took over $3200. They then backed up and catered for the Bombala Camp Draft where once again takings exceeded $3000. I have now been here since the beginning of 2019, and this incredible group of people continue to blow me away with their work ethic, enthusiasm, and willingness to help our amazing little school. You guys' rock!!!

NSW PSSA State Swimming Championships

During the last week of term, Dustin, Lola, Amelia, and Georgina headed off to Sydney for the Small School's Relay event. Unfortunately, Lola was struck down with illness and was unable to swim which was such a shame. However, young Oscar from Glennquarry PS ably stepped into the breach to allow our other students the opportunity to swim at such a prestigious event. We finished 24th in the state, which is an outstanding achievement given the disruptions and how concerned all the students were for Lola's well-being and how concerned Lola was that she had been letting down her fellow swimmers. Lola need not worry, as she was in no way letting anyone down, and the fact that she showed so much worry for her teammates despite how sick she was is a testament to her as a person.

Before and After School Care Service

We have currently have had a wonderful uptake of people use the service and this is something that we continue to encourage.

LUCY CULLITON A FINALIST IN THE WYNNE ART PRIZE

Local Artist Lucy Culliton's painting of her garden at Bibbenluke is a finalist in the Wynne Art Prize. Her painting on a large oil on canvas of her colourful spring garden was recently shown at the Jan Murphy Gallery in Brisbane.

The Wynne is Australia's Art prize, being awarded in 1897 to mark the opening of the NSW Art Gallery and of the 726 entries this year, 41 finalists have been selected. Following the exhibition at the Sydney Gallery the Wynne Prize will tour various venues in regional NSW, giving regional audiences the chance to see the best of Australian contemporary landscape and sculpture.

COUNTRY UNIVERSITIES CENTRE TO VISIT DELEGATE

The Country Universities Centres will be in Delegate on the 18th May at the public school Library. The CUC Snowy Monaro is keen to provide study support for more members of the community and will spend the day in Delegate to provide support for those already studying at university. They can also offer support with enrolments, scholarships, applications, assignments and referencing.

They emphasise the fact the study is not just for school leavers and mature students are encouraged to use this opportunity to connect people with courses they can do at home, as well as options for on campus education.

Anyone with questions can contact the centre by email at degrees@cucsnowymonaro.edu.au.

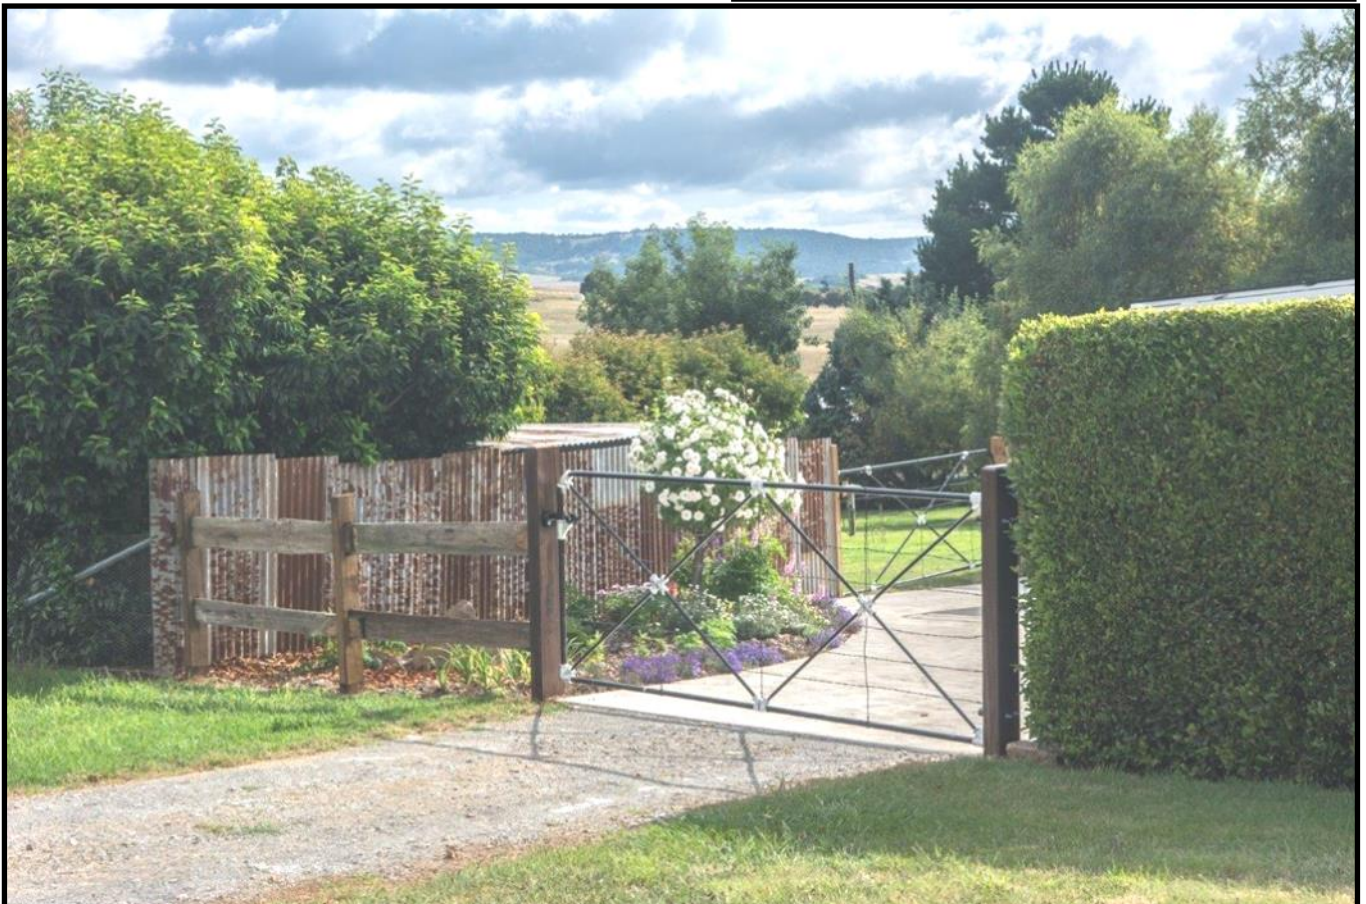

They will be in Delegate from 9am – 3pm and bookings are not required.

Bombala Garden Club Garden Competition

The Bombala garden club recently had a garden competition for new front gardens within the town limits of all towns and villages in the former Bombala Shire area. The idea was to encourage people to brighten up the streetscapes. Prizes were awarded at the Bombala Show. Russell Buckman of Delegate came 3rd with his new garden along his front drive.

School Friends visit Delegate.

Late March saw some long term friends of Carol Sellers come to Delegate to assist with lamb marking, a skill new to them all. The girls started Year 7 together, in fact Suzanne and Carol began kindergarten together. In the group included Cathy McCole nee Southam who is the daughter of Nel and Darrell Southam. Cath's dad was the local policeman in Delegate back in the mid 1960's. Connor Reed ably assisted the 'old' girls. Once in a routine they did an amazing job!

HERE & THERE

Happy Birthday to all those born in May including the following: Marilyn Callaghan, Mark Guthrie, Jordan Cameron, Rhett Guthrie, James Preston, Suzy Kidd, Beryl Stuart, Joy Douch. Special greetings to Alex Reed who turned 18 on 2nd. May.

Special 18th birthday greetings to Alex Reed who turned 18 on the 2nd May.

Two more baby boomers born in 1953 celebrate their 70th birthdays this month. Many Happy Returns to Marilyn Callaghan and Mark Guthrie.

Easter saw a large convoy of four wheel drive vehicles arrive in Delegate for lunch at the School of Arts. They were part of the huge Four Wheel Drive event over the Easter week-end at Cooma.

Delegate is the staging post for more and more such groups who come for the experience of exploring the many bush trails and places of interest over the Border.

Next Easter another large group will be staying at the Delegate Show and Sports Ground.

Of all the pests that have been inflicted on our land, the European Wasp would be right up there with the worst. In places where they have been left unchecked, they are in now plague proportion. Delegate are fortunate that there is a man called Allan who continuously wages war on the pests. People are urged to destroy them when they appear on their property as they can do major damage, nesting in ceilings and other parts of houses. They also have a nasty sting, and unlike bees they can keep on stinging. Also our precious bees are not safe from these vicious predators. Below an example of the nests they make.

A man who left Delegate at a young age, recently passed through Delegate with his wife on a caravan trip. Rodney Ryan and family live in Towamba, Q'land. Rodney was the youngest child of Bonnie (nee Ingram) and Jim Ryan. He was the first of his family to move to Towamba where he was joined by brother Wayne and two of his sisters. His father Jim Ryan and brother Clarrie had the taxi service in Delegate for many years..

Delegate Country Club attracted a good crowd for their entertainment featuring Adam Dean, who was billed as a Magician, Illusionist and Comedian. Below: Adam Dean with Bec Kading.

LOOKING BACK

An old photo circa 1970/80's? Taken at the Delegate Country Club. L to R.: Jean Stokes, Isabel Ingram, Ruth Clarke, Myrene Eppelston. All of the above ladies were golfers, so it may have been a golf function.

THE THREE MAGIC “P’s” Pansy, Polyanthus and Primula by S. Tocchini

These three showy winter flowering plants are just made for the Cool Climate Garden and, since each have a different microclimate preference, every part of the garden can boast colour. Pansies are probably most versatile preferring a sunny position and are more forgiving of irregular watering, where water is not constantly available polyanthus like a little shade and primula do well in dry shade.

Pansies are the breeding pinnacle of the violaceae family that includes violets and the wild plant Viola tricolor domesticated by the Greeks in the 4th century B.C. for medicinal use. Lady Mary Elizabeth Bennet (1785-1861) collected wild violas and produced hybrids in 1813 all still featuring the wild type ‘whiskers’. Simultaneously James Gambier was crossing the wild types with broader petals to create the rounded shape flower. In 1839 William Thompson used a single chance seedling with a block of colour to produce the first pansies that had blotches (faces) instead of whiskers. About the turn of the 20th century a Scottish grower, Dr. Charles Stewart bred the pansy with clear colours (no face). By the 1950’s raspberry colours were introduced. The grouping of pansy and viola is somewhat artificial but violas are taken to mean those with smaller flowers and, since these are closer to mountain types, they are usually the more cold hardy. Some still have perfume, mostly blues and yellows, this also reflecting closer ties with the wild heritage.

Polyanthus are the breeding pinnacle of another European plant family, the primroses, native to the United Kingdom with infusion of other European primula to become P. variabilis, the polyanthus of today. One of the earliest named varieties is Primula elatior ‘Gold Lace’ from 1760 when the Curator of the Physic Garden, Chelsea, Philip Miller wrote ‘there are all sorts of polyanthus which have been so much improved during the past fifty years that in some parts of England are so much esteemed as to sell for a guinea a root’. At that price, even today, division would be worthwhile. Division is recommended because congested clumps either lose vigour or rot away.

Polyanthus are mostly available in punnets as ‘Pacific Giants’ and can be kept for many years if divided.

Primula are another diverse group, not from Europe this time, but centred in the high, damp meadows of the Himalayas. Primula malacoides also has a very recent garden history only introduced as seed in 1908 by the plant explorer George Forrest who noted it as a field weed. The first primulas were grown in England, flowered so well in cultivation that the species was quickly adopted by commercial seed growers. Within a decade a selection of delicate appearance became named Fairy primulas. They are hardy to frost and low temperatures, may self-seed but do not like heat together with high humidity. The most important cultural requirement is excellent drainage, since the roots rot in soil that is wet or heavy. The other garden Primula species like obconica need a warmer climate than ours.
